ML INTERIORS GROUP

Many services distinguish ML Interiors Group from other design firms, but its innovative approach to working with clients tops the list. "This is where your dreams and our creative expertise collide," says Michelle Lynne, president and principal designer. "We have a 16-step process that we apply to every project, where we provide the interior design concept and presentation, coordination of trade professionals, procurement of goods, receiving and cataloging of the items, deliveries, and then the installation. The only surprise is the client's reaction when we reveal each room for the first time." A premier source for interior design and home staging, ML Interiors Group started as a one-woman operation, growing to a team of Dallas-based interior designers who collaborate, challenge and inspire one another, creating more spirited, productive homes. "This is interior design on budget and on time," Lynne says. And she should know. In 2008, Lynne left a high-level corporate position managing multimillion-dollar businesses, then redesigned her life to pursue her dream of opening an interior design firm. From new construction to a renovation or a refresh, ML Interiors Group's team of designers creates classic yet contemporary interiors that are unique, beautiful, functional, and most importantly, a reflection of its clients' style. Lynne adds, "We strive to translate their dreams into luxurious but livable spaces."

Ask the Expert

Describe the philosophy behind your firm.

Our vision is to make homes happier and more efficient, providing the busy professional a peaceful refuge to begin and end the day.

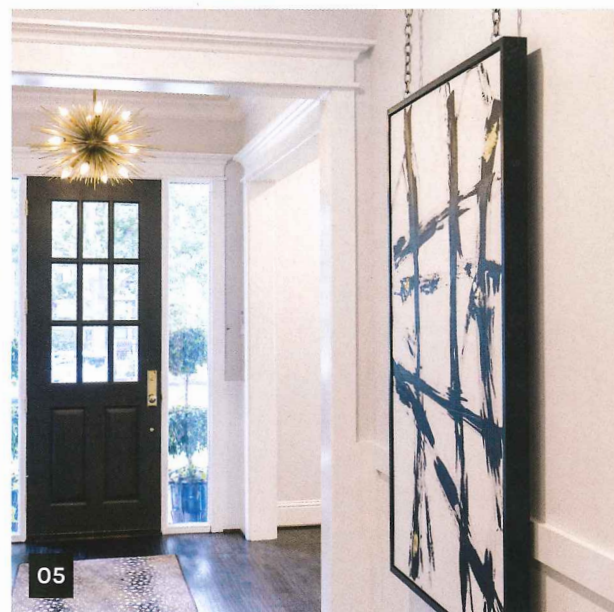

What led you to your current profession?

I was working for a corporation when the company was sold. I didn't want to do a job I didn't love anymore, so I slowly moved out of management, and out of the company altogether; and I've never looked back!

What is your creative process?

We gather a series of detailed and specific questionnaires, collections of images, and other materials that allow us to 'climb' into our clients' minds and translate their dreams into real spaces.

01. Graphic fabrics and bold colors create unexpected drama in this all-white chef's kitchen. 02. A contemporary geometric area rug balances the tradition of the formal dining table and custom drapery, while sophisticated lighting is provided by a statement chandelier. 03. Ample seating fills the family room of this Vickery Park home, where an oversize ottoman does double duty as a cocktail table or additional seating when entertaining. 04. This elegant formal living room in Preston Hollow provides a sun-drenched space to relax alone or enjoy stimulating conversation. 05. Artwork by a local artist, Jenn Thatcher, graces the wall of the entry, where a striking light fixture adds to the bold blend of styles.

“We rely on experience and follow-through to complete projects that possess a smart style and creative ideas, and are completed on time and on budget.”
